Programs Combine Fun and Resources for Families at Back-to-School Celebration

On Wednesday, August 21, the Chehalis Community Center Baseball Complex hosted the Annual Back-to-School Celebration. It was a beautiful, sunny day for those who came out to enjoy the activities.

The Kidz-N-Motion Entertainment and More, LLC provided fun games for the children to challenge themselves physically and mentally. The children were seen smiling and playing on the various slides and obstacle courses. The most challenging was the rock climbing wall. The children had looks of grim determination as they scaled the wall in order to get to the top. The sound of the buzzer echoed across the complex as the children successfully accomplished their goal of reaching to the summit. The smile of achievement lit up their faces as they returned to the ground.

The youth workers volunteered their services at the cotton candy, popcorn and snow cone stations. The group of kids kept them busy while standing in line for treats. The youth did an awesome job!

Programs gave out back packs and gift cards to assist families in preparing for the upcoming school year.

Tribal Canoe Families Gather Sharing Their Heritage and Spirituality at Safeco Field

Tuesday, August 21 was Native American Day in Safeco Field at the Mariners game. The Nisqually, Suquamish, Puyallup, Muckleshoot, Tulalip and the Chehalis tribal canoe families joined together to participate in this honorable celebration. Native American Day is special to many who love the time honored game of baseball. There is no better way for a fan to go to a Mariners game and also be able to give tribute to an awakening culture. Some say it

It wasn’t all fun and games though. It was also an opportunity to visit program personnel at the booths. Information was provided on what resources different programs have to offer each family. Networking is very important in assisting students to achieve their academic goals during the upcoming school year. The Youth Center and Education Program handed out gift cards and back packs. The gift cards helped families purchase school supplies for the upcoming school year.

It was a great family-oriented event! Thanks everyone, keep up the good work.

is a show! Some say it is a gimmick! Some just say WOW!

It was a long day for the many volunteers who came to sing, drum and dance on Safeco field before the start of the night’s game. In preparation for the performance the intertribal canoe families practiced in order to make the allotted time frame for the performance. It was the greatest six minutes for those that came to make their presence felt through their music, dance and prayers in a traditional manner. It was an opportunity to make a spiritual connection, as the drummers, singers and dancers entered the field. It was a moment to remember. Performers were dressed in full regalia, representing each tribal canoe family sharing, breathing and living the experience of our tribal and coastal traditions for everyone to witness.

Thanks go to the canoe families and the Mariners for honoring of Native Americans everywhere.
Prior to the park and recreation planning meeting, youth were given surveys to complete. Dozens of surveys were administered. Here are the results, in order of preference, from the 47 children who completed the survey:

What do you want to see added on the reservation?

- Batting Cages
- New Park
- Bike Paths
- Outdoor Basketball Court
- Dog Park
- Walking Trails
- Skateboard Park

Would you want to do any of these things?

- Boxing
- Cooking Classes
- Karate
- Nature Walks
- Swimming Lessons
- Skateboard
- Dance Classes

Thank you to the members of the Planning Department who helped facilitate the meeting. And thank you to the members of the community who attended and made the meeting a success!

If you are interested in joining a Parks and Recreation Planning team or if you have questions please contact Jenee Penn at 360-709-1620 or e-mail jpenn@chehalistribe.org.

Vosper Community to Receive New Playground Equipment

The Planning Department will soon begin construction on another playground on the Chehalis Reservation!

Residents of the Vosper community were asked to give input on potential park locations. Thank you to all the community members that took the time to give feedback including the many residents on Sickman Loop and the members of the Housing Committee. Community input is essential to developing parks for everyone to enjoy. The newest park will be constructed on Site 22.

Construction will begin soon and be completed by December. Similar to the park across from the Tribal Center, this new park will have toys for children of all ages including monkey bars, swings, slides and a spinning toy along with a sitting area for parents.

No traffic disruptions are expected with this project.

The Heritage Department is offering assistance in tracing your family tree. Bring the information you have and we can get started tracing as far back as we can in your lineage.

Also bring in your old photos and have them scanned and copied so we can document your family history.

To date we have been working on the Gleason, Klatush, and Penn family trees. It’s so interesting to see how our families all connect to each other.

We are located in the Community Center in the Library area. For more information contact Lynn Hoheisel, Heritage Coordinator at 360-709-1748.

Suicide is a sensitive issue, but one that is of great concern to many American Indian and Alaska Native (AI/AN) communities. Data suggest that suicide is a significant problem throughout Indian Country, particularly among Native youth, males, veterans, and elders. From 2002-2006, the average suicide death rate was highest among AI/AN aged 10-24 years at 27.72 cases per 100,000. In the Northwest (ID, OR, and WA), suicide is the 8th leading cause of death for AI/AN people and the 2nd leading cause of death for AI/AN’s ages 15-24 years (this is the same for AI/AN youth throughout the U.S.).

We Are All Here for a Reason

Suicide is a big issue in the American Indian community today. In this complex and often overwhelming world, people sometimes find themselves feeling hopeless, as if their lives are insignificant, as if they don’t matter. But each of us matter. Our lives have a purpose. The creator put you on Mother Earth for a reason. If you have a purpose, you have a reason to live.

What to Look For

Knowing what to look for and the warning signs of suicide are crucial in being able to save a life. There are many signs that someone may show if they are feeling that life is too much. Some of these include thinking or talking about suicide, anger, and withdrawal from those and things around them. So if you see any of these signs get help immediately.

You Can Help

If you think a friend or family member may be thinking of suicide, you can help. It is important to take action; you can make the difference between life and death.

If you feel the person isn’t in immediate danger, acknowledge the pain as legitimate and offer to work together to get help. Make sure you follow through. This is one instance where you must be tenacious in your follow-up. Offer to help find an elder, community leader, educator, or doctor. Participate in making the first phone call, or go along to the first appointment.

Call Tsapowum Chehalis Tribal Behavioral Health at: 360-709-1733 for appointments or referrals.

Begin Talking About It

Your willingness to talk about suicide with a friend or family member can be the critical first step in prevention. Many people who are depressed cannot recognize their symptoms; you have to be their eyes and ears. You need to let your family member or friend know they can feel better, that suicidal thoughts are temporary and that there are people who can help them. If you don’t know how you should start the conversation, here are some questions to ask your friend or family member:

- “Do you ever feel so badly that you think about suicide?”
- “Do you have a plan to take your life?”
- “Have you thought about when you would do it (today, tomorrow, next week)?”
- “Have you thought about what method you would use?”

You can also talk to an elder, community leader, spiritual leader, teacher, physician or other trusted individual that can help you get more information and find help. Overall, help for someone you care about should be a team effort. Treatment should include those listed above as well as family members, friends, community members and any other significant people in your friend’s life.

Never keep a plan for suicide a secret

Don’t worry about the person you care about getting mad at you. You have bigger things to worry about—someone’s life might be in danger! It is better to violate a confidence than it is to lose a loved one. They may later thank you for saving their life.

Don’t try to minimize problems or shame a person into changing their mind

Trying to convince a person that what they are feeling is not that bad, or that they have everything to live for may only increase their feelings of guilt and hopelessness. Let them know that help is available, that suicidal feelings are temporary, that they are important members of the community, and that life can get better!

A suicidal person should see a doctor or mental health professional immediately. Calling the Native American Youth Hotline (877-209-1266) is a good first step towards getting the help you need. Calling 911 or going to a hospital emergency room are also options to prevent a suicide attempt or death. You can also call the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline 1-800-273-TALK (8255).

Drivers, Think Safety First to Protect Children at Bus Stop

With school beginning drivers should be aware. What is the most dangerous part of the school bus ride? The bus stop! Children are at greatest risk when they are getting on or off the school bus, because they become easily distracted and may start across the street without warning.

- Don’t understand the danger of moving vehicles.
- Can’t judge vehicle speed or distance.
- May be blocked from view by the bus.

School bus safety tips for drivers
- Prepare to stop when a slowing bus has its overhead yellow lights flashing
- Stop at least 20 feet away for busses when red lights are flashing
- Slow down in or near school and residential areas
- Look for clues such as safety patrols, crossing guards, bicycles, and playgrounds that indicate children might be in the area
- Watch for children between parked cars and other objects

School Bus are like traffic signals
- When overhead lights are flashing yellow: Prepare to stop
- When overhead lights are flashing red: Stop
- When hazard warning lights are flashing: Proceed with caution

School bus safety tips for students
- Always stay in sight of the bus driver
- Don’t hurry off the bus; check traffic first
- Don’t go back to the bus after exiting

Additional school bus safety information is available from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration American School Bus Council

Free Firewood Available to Tribal Members!

Glen Connelly – Environmental Programs Manager

Tribal members can get a free firewood gathering permit at the Chehalis Department of Natural Resources. There’s a pile of logs ready to be cut up into free firewood, all you need is a permit. You can cut up to 2 cords of wood for your household use. (The firewood cannot be sold and the permit holder must be present while cutting it up.)

Dry Firewood Burns Cleaner - Seasoned (dried) wood burns hotter and cleaner in your fireplace. This means more heat in your house, less soot in your chimney, and less smoke blowing towards your neighbor. Here are few reminders:

- Split your wood now and it will dry before this Winter.
- Store your wood off the ground, so air can circulate and dry it. (Old pallets work great.)
- Cover the wood pile with a tarp, or build a wood shed to keep the rain off of it.
- Never burn garbage, or wood that has been painted or treated. They produce toxic chemicals.

Wood smoke is the leading source of air pollution in our area and we all create some of it. Every little bit we do to reduce pollution from wood smoke makes your community healthier for the elders, the children and those folks with respiratory illnesses. So don’t wait, get your firewood cut now, you’ll be ready for the season. Do your part and burn clean, dry wood.

Burn Ban Still in Effect

Although it has been raining, the warm weather is expected to return for most of September, so the Burn Ban is still in effect. We will post flyers at the tribal stores and tribal center when the Burn Ban is lifted.

For more information please contact Glen Connelly, Environmental Programs Manager at the Department of Natural Resources at 360-709-1554.

SERIOUSLY?  REALLY?
Buying a car? It pays to do your homework.

By Washington Attorney General Bob Ferguson

walk away if you don’t get it!

Research a fair price for the car you want before visiting the dealer. Establishing your target price will give you confidence during negotiations with the dealer.

Check out the car dealer’s reputation. Before you walk into a dealer, make sure they’re in good business standing with the Better Business Bureau (www.bbb.org). This is the first way to avoid a scam.

Aggressive or deceptive sales tactics — buyer beware. Remember you are in charge and are free to walk away.

- Holding keys. Watch out for the salesperson who avoids returning your keys or driver’s license after evaluating your trade in. The goal is to keep you from leaving. They have no right to withhold your property.
- Requiring cash deposits. You do not need to provide a cash deposit to show that you are serious about buying.
- Binding statement. You are only bound to a contract after all the detailed terms are in writing and you have agreed to, and signed, the final contract. Do not believe otherwise.

Multiple salespeople. Some dealerships may pressure you by using different salespeople or engage in long negotiations to tire you out. You are always free to leave and return a different day.

Understand your financing.

Know the difference between leasing and buying. A lease is not simply another way to buy a car — you are actually agreeing to rent the vehicle long-term. Getting out of a lease early is a very expensive way to go. You may also owe big bucks at the end of the lease.

Shop around for loans. If you buy, compare the loan rates and terms offered by the car dealer to other banks and credit unions. Securing pre-approved financing may help you avoid buying more vehicle than you can afford.

Check out warranties. Is there a manufacturer warranty? If the vehicle is not under a manufacturer’s warranty, ask what the service contract covers.

You do not have to buy the service contract from the dealer. Get all promises in writing.

Know the Lemon Law. You also have protections under the Washington State Motor Vehicle ‘Lemon Law,’ which helps new vehicle owners who have substantial continuing problems with warranty repairs. The law allows you to request an arbitration hearing through the Attorney General’s Office at any time within 30 months of your vehicle’s original retail delivery date — at no charge to you!

Make it work for you. Remember, you don’t have to sign anything. You can always walk away if you don’t find the right deal for you. Arming yourself with information will put you in the driver’s seat, not the dealer. The car you drive off the lot must be what’s best for your lifestyle and budget.

When unscrupulous businesses don’t play by the rules, the AGO will hold them accountable. In the unfortunate event you are the victim of scam, contact my office to file a complaint at www.atg.wa.gov/FileAComplaint.aspx.
Greetings all!

My name is Cal Bray, I am currently serving as the Emergency Management Coordinator for the Chehalis Tribe and I am a tribal member. My program’s objective is to reach out to the community to educate, inform and increase public awareness regarding their understanding of the various ways to prepare for possible natural hazards.

The tribe is unique in that we are located on the far ends of two counties as well as within a known flood plain. It is my hope that we, as a community, can become more self-reliant and self-sufficient during times of emergencies. I look forward to working with everyone within our community in helping build better habits that will improve the tribe’s ability to respond to and recover from any crisis that may occur.

Is Your Home Prepared for the Upcoming Winter Season?

It won’t happen here. We can have a tendency to think that disasters will not happen where we live. Recent years however have proven it can - severe winter storms, floods, and extended power outages have occurred across our state. We must accept this as reality and assume responsibility by taking action to prepare ourselves, our loved ones, homes, pets and neighborhoods.

The goal of the Community Transformation Grant (CTG) is to work with the residents of the Chehalis Reservation and the community of Oakville to look at our community and see where we can make healthy changes.

The CTG staff are guided by a Community Coalition made up of community residents, and a Leadership Team of local and regional leaders.

The grant process began with talking with community residents, gathering data, and conducting surveys. We collaborated with other groups. Then we started conducting our own activities such as Community Gatherings and Health Screenings.

We invite you to participate with our community’s transformation. It is easy to participate—take part in one of our exercise activities, Personal Opinion Surveys, or come to a Community Gathering or a Coalition Meeting. We do want to hear your voice. Transformation will not occur without it!

Emergency Preparedness Event

“Accidents Big or Small, Avoid Them All!!”

The Community Transformation Grant would like to invite the communities of Oakville and the Chehalis Reservation to participate in our Emergency Preparedness event.

October 24th from 3:00-6:00 PM in the Community Center’s Gathering Room.
This was our 16th year celebrating our father’s love for baseball and fishing. The wooden bat hardball tournament only drew in four local teams, but that was good. That meant at least the jackets would stay home this year. Congratulations go out to the Rebels for winning this year’s tournament; they fought a long, hard battle to victory. The championship game was a good one. Both teams played very hard. This is what our father would love to see. Good baseball and good food!

The fish dinner on Saturday went on without a hitch. There was plenty of food, with exception to Georgette’s fry bread and chili. They always go first. There was, however, plenty of fish. We would like to thank Dan Jones and John Youckton for helping Christopher and Don with cooking the fish. Chris said he learned a lot from them both and was very grateful for the opportunity to learn. Thank you to all those who donated food. It was very well received and devoured by everyone.

Thank you for coming out and enjoying good baseball and good food. See you next year.
